

About Horticulture

Written by Administrator

Wednesday, 05 September 2012 13:52 - Last Updated Wednesday, 05 September 2012 15:16

Horticulture has a very long history. The study of horticulture is the science of horticulture. The principles of horticulture are the same as those of agriculture, but the focus is on the cultivation of plants in a controlled environment.

The origins of horticulture can be traced to the transition from nomadic hunter-gathering to sedentary agriculture. The first horticultural communities, such as the Mesopotamians, were located in the Tigris and Euphrates river valleys.

Mesoamerican

[14]

biochar

[15]

Terra Preta de Indio

[16]

swiddens

slash and burn

[17]